This week: Sun October 4
Rev. Lori Hisson
Divine Order: A Principle or An Excuse?

Have you ever heard someone use the phrase "It's all in Divine Order" to explain away their lateness or unwillingness to meet a commitment? "Divine Order" for some has become an excuse to justify whatever actions are occurring. Is this how you understand the real Truth of our Power of Order?

Join Rev. Lori Hisson live on Zoom to understand the true nature of Divine Order.

Rev. Lori Hisson is the now-retired spiritual leader of Unity of London for almost 20 years. She is also a member of the Unity Canada board and serves as their Scholarship Chair.

Sunday October 11:
TED talk by Louie Schwartzberg:
"Nature's Beauty Inspires Gratitude."

The son of Holocaust survivors, Schwartzberg is a renowned American director, producer and cinematographer who is recognized as a pioneer in high-end time-lapse cinematography. He is also a visual artist who focuses on connections between humans and the subtleties of nature and environment.

In his beautiful TED talk, Louie will share with us his love of nature through the exquisite slow motion capturing of its beauty - our theme for October - and mystery.

SUN October 8
Robin Blackburn McBride
A Certain Beauty: Nature, Order, and the Poetry of Change

Unsettling as it can be, change is a necessary part of order. In her upcoming talk, Robin will share thoughts on the perspective and inner guidance available to each of us right now. She'll weave in poetry and reflect on this particular season's gifts. Drawing inspiration from nature, Robin will offer prompts for introspection, clarity, and courage.

For over 25 years, Robin has been an inspired teacher and student of creativity. A coach in human potential, she is also an author, including: a non-fiction book, Birdlight: Freeing Your Authentic Creativity, a volume of poetry, In Green, and a novel, The Shining Fragments. In addition to coaching, Robin is currently at work on her next novel.
